Notes and News

STUDIO

Dear Families,
 Our artist inspiration for this month is Wassily Kandinsky. The studio children did a fabulous job of recreating their own abstract art pieces by using watercolors and bleeding tissue papers onto canvas.
 Also, the studio children are busy creating a special art work which will be displayed at the Annual Fundraiser and Auction event on March 8th.

This month at The Studio:

ART- Children are working on their Valentine's Day project. The medium is clay.

CREATIVE AREA – Cherry blossom on tree branch. The mediums are a tree branch, acrylic paint and coffee filters.

PRACTICAL LIFE AND SENSORIAL - Pouring, sorting, spooning, shoe tying and knobbed cylinders.

SCIENCE EXPERIMENT-Can Pine cone predict weather?

I will once again be offering the ART 101 class as an auction item for bidding. The class will take place every Tuesday and Thursday (5:15pm-6:00pm) for the month of April. Please email me with any questions about the ART 101 art class at Kris.Palit@rmaschool.org.

Happy Valentine's Day ♥

Ms. Kris

Phonics Readers!

Please return your Usborne Phonics Reader the lobby box to share with other families. And check out a new one! Early reading skills are the foundation for strong reading ability later, in much the same way that a solid building foundation supports a skyscraper - the stronger the foundation, the higher the building (<https://www.readinghorizons.com/early-literacy/early-reading-skills/>).
